ASTA GEISENHEIM

PREFACE

November is here, and the days are getting shorter!

It's getting colder outside, which makes it cozier indoors, but there's still plenty going on on campus and in Geisenheim! We at the AStA have planned a few events for you again this November. At the Murder Mystery Dinner on November 5, you can solve the mystery together; at the Running Dinner on November 12, you can meet new people; and at the Movie Night on November 16, you can enjoy a relaxing evening. Plus, on November 18, our "Wine 101" event awaits, where you can expand your knowledge of wine.

So don't let the gray November weather get you down. Take this opportunity to meet new people, share experiences, and add a little color to the dark season!

We look forward to seeing you at the events.

JOB OFFERS

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER (M/F/D)

All of our diverse events and wonderful department members need someone to keep track of the finances. Do you enjoy working with numbers and accounting, are interested in business topics, and perhaps already have some knowledge of bookkeeping? Or are you willing to develop new skills in these areas?
Then, as CFO, you can expect tasks such as payroll processing, cash bookkeeping, managing student association dues, preparing the annual financial statements, and much more related to finance and budgeting!

Interested in this paid part-time job? Then send us your application (resume and a short cover letter) to finanzen@asta-geisenheim.de

PS: All department members are employed on a mini-job basis!

ORIENTATION-PROMOTION-CAREER

CAREER SERVICE EVENTS

A warm welcome to everyone who's back on campus. Finally, there's life and activity here again. The Career Service program kicks off the winter semester with offerings tailored to your suggestions.

Participation is free—all it takes is a little curiosity, registration, and a commitment to follow through. And here's a look at the upcoming online talks:

Me-time, the Right Way: Mental Health & Self-Care, November 2, 6:30 – 8:00 p.m.

Trouble concentrating, exhaustion, constant pressure, or the feeling that you can never truly unwind—mental health affects us all. In this workshop, you'll learn how stress and strain arise, how to recognize early warning signs, and why self-care is far more than just wellness or a brief break. You'll learn to be more aware of your own resources and develop strategies that will strengthen you in the long run as you go about your daily life.

Look forward to clear insights into the topic of mental health, practical ideas, and concrete suggestions on how to successfully incorporate self-care into your daily life as a student or professional. This will help you better manage stress, build your resilience, and navigate challenging times with greater composure.

Use Body Language to Project Confidence on November 3, 2026, 6:30–8:00 p.m.

Whether in a job interview, during a presentation, or in your future professional life: Your body language influences how others perceive you and how confident you come across.

In this workshop, you'll learn how to project confidence and make a positive first impression through mindful posture, facial expressions, gestures, and voice. You'll discover the signals you unconsciously send, how to better interpret others' body language, and how to project your inner confidence outwardly. You'll put what you learn into practice right away and gain valuable insights on how to come across as authentic and convincing in conversations, presentations, and job interviews.

Crafting Compelling Application Materials,
November 16, 6:30–8:00 p.m.

Do you want your application to stand out from the crowd and make the most of the best job opportunities available to you? In our online session, we'll show you how to present your professional strengths effectively, apply the right application strategies, and prepare yourself optimally for your next career move.

Learn how to highlight your skills and convince employers through professional self-marketing. Now is the right time to actively shape your career!

Job Interview—Self-Promotion and Successful Salary Negotiation,
November 25, 2026, 6:30–8:00 p.m.

You've got the technical skills—now it's about conveying that. After this seminar, you'll be able to showcase your true potential without pretending to be someone you're not.

You'll learn how to present yourself clearly in a job interview, make your strengths tangible, and take the lead rather than just reacting. At the same time, you'll gain a sense of your worth and learn how to negotiate your salary with confidence.

By the end, you'll approach interviews with greater confidence, know how to position yourself, and have concrete strategies for your next career move.

Understanding Stress: Acting with Greater Calm,
November 30, 6:30–8:00 p.m.

In this interactive 90-minute online presentation, you'll learn what actually happens in your body and brain when you're stressed and why we sometimes react differently than we'd like to in stressful situations. You'll learn to better understand stress, recognize warning signs early on, and consciously counteract it using practical methods you can apply in everyday life.

Look forward to exciting insights into stress research, hands-on exercises, and concrete strategies that will help you keep a clear head and remain capable of taking action, even during challenging times.

Scholarships for You, Too! Information Session,
December 7, 6:30–8:00 p.m.

There are a wide variety of scholarships available. With so many options, it can sometimes be difficult to figure out which one is the "right" fit for each student. In addition, there are often reservations about applying for scholarships: Am I good enough? Can I apply for one, too? How does the process even work, and what do I need to keep in mind when applying? What scholarships are available at Geisenheim University?

We'll answer these and many other questions at this joint event hosted by the Arbeiterkind.de Foundation and Geisenheim University.

Register here: Zur Anmeldung

If you'd like, feel free to stop by the Career Service—for example, to have your resume reviewed, for a quick consultation, or just to chat about your next steps.

We're here for you - even if your resume currently has more question marks than lines.

AROUND THE CAMPUS

LET'S GO - NEWS FROM THE GREEN OFFICE

Welcome to the latest updates from the Green Office! Our dedicated team is committed to promoting sustainability in research, teaching, and university operations.

WHAT'S NEW?

We're reporting on the Ersti-Rallye, giving you a behind-the-scenes look at our e-learning shoot, and inviting you to sign up for two of our events: the herbal workshop and the 'Get Involved' workshop on university participation.

Ersti-Rallye

Despite the cold weather, we had great fun playing our famous sustainability game – rubbish stacking! – with the freshers at the Ersti-Rallye. This not only allows us to raise awareness of sustainability issues, but also to organise the game itself without using any newly produced resources.

This time, our station was at the Food Safety Building, where we had plenty of space for the competitions to see who could build the tallest rubbish tower:

@ Green Office

Behind the Scenes

To integrate the topic of sustainability into teaching, we are developing e-learning resources for lecturers. One of these focuses on how teaching opportunities can be created from the University's strategic objectives and real challenges on campus. These can then be worked on and implemented by students, such as the green façade at the Müller-Thurgau-Haus, which was designed as part of a Summer School.

At the end of October, we produced videos for the e-learning module and answered questions about the green façade:

@ Yasmin Peters

Herbal workshop

To help us prepare for the cold time of year and, at the same time, learn some fascinating facts about medicinal plants, we invite you to our workshop on the theme 'Ready for the cold season'. The workshop focuses on making home remedies from medicinal plants to strengthen our immune systems for the cold season.

The workshop begins with a brief theoretical introduction to the medicinal plants used and how to apply them. The main part of the event involves making three herbal remedies. The workshop will be led by Daniel Krauth, a Master's student in horticulture. He has long been fascinated by plants and, thanks to his aunt, who is an expert in medicinal herbs, he is also very knowledgeable in this field.

The workshop will take place on 23 November 2026 from 5.00 pm to 7.00 pm at the HGU Campus. Participation is free of charge! Please feel free to register with us at:
stud.nachhaltigkeit@hs-gm.de

@ Green Office

Get Involved Workshop

This free, five-hour workshop aims to reflect on and transform the structures for student participation at our University. This means taking a close look at how students get involved and who is involved. Together, we will analyse where things often get stuck and how things could be done differently. The topic will be examined from three perspectives: your individual experiences of engagement, the structural framework for student participation, and access to opportunities for engagement.

The workshop is part of the research project 'StuPan – Student Participation and Sustainable (Higher Education) Transformation'. The project investigates how students actively help shape universities and which individual, social and institutional factors influence student participation. The workshop is organised and led by representatives from netzwerk n.

The workshop will take place on a one-off basis on Saturday 5 December 2026, from 10.00 to 15.00, on our University campus. If you would like to take part in the workshop, please send an email with your name and study course to Stud.Nachhaltigkeit@hs-gm.de by 30 November 2026.

GRÜNDUNGSFABRIK RHEINGAU

Let's celebrate the best start-up ideas!

On December 3, the Rheingau-Taunus Startup Award (GPRT) will hold its 7th annual finals. Nine pitches, three categories, plenty of great ideas and you're invited!

Anyone who has been there before can confirm it. When nine start-up ideas and young companies pitch for places at the GPRT final, the result is much more than just a thrilling competitive atmosphere. Rather, it is the inspiring spirit of creative and diverse ideas that spreads and infects both the audience and the jury in the best possible way. Once again, the 'Neue Forum' at EBS University in Oestrich-Winkel is hosting the final.

Once again this year, the winners will be decided across three categories. Three finalist teams in each category will present in

- Category 1: Ideas from schools and universities in the Rheingau-Taunus district
- Category 2: Start-ups from universities
- Category 3: Start-ups from the Rheingau-Taunus district.

There is a total of EUR 15,000 in prize money up for grabs. The jury and the audience will decide who comes out on top. Your vote counts. Cast your vote for your favourites … perhaps there are some from Geisenheim in the mix too. Keep your ears open. Word is sure to get round.

Fancy experiencing this live? Fancy popping over to the neighbouring university? Then here's your chance. The final of the Rheingau-Taunus Start-up Award kicks off on 3 December 2026 at 5.30 pm with a get-together at EBS University. The pitches begin at 6 pm. During the jury's break, there'll be plenty of opportunity to get to know the founders and guests over drinks and snacks.

All you need to do is click on the link below, register and make your way to Oestrich-Winkel on 3 December:
https://gruendungsfabrik-rheingau.de/kalender/das-finale-gruendungspreis-rheingau-taunus-2026/

The Rheingau-Taunus Start-up Award is supported by Volksbank Rheingau-Lahn-Limburg, the Rheingau-Taunus district, Werner Elektrotechnik, the Wiesbaden Chamber of Industry and Commerce (IHK), and the VEG – Geisenheim Alumni Association. Thank you very much!

APPLY NOW: BECOME A DIGITALCHANGEMAKER 2027!

Dear Students,

How can we shape universities that are shaped not only by technological developments, but above all by human values, skills, and ideas? If this question resonates with you, then apply now by November 15, 2026 for the 2027 DigitalChangeMaker cohort of the Higher Education Forum on Digitalization (HFD)!

Hochschulforum Digitalisierung

Under the motto "Human Futures in the Digital Age," 15 students from all over Germany will work together next year to develop ideas and projects for the future of higher education.

As a DigitalChangeMaker...

- you'll work with other dedicated students to develop visions for a sustainable higher education landscape,
- you'll spend a year working on a hands-on project in one of three thematic tracks:
  - The Future of AI x Ethics
  - The Future of Democracy x Technology
  - The Future of Work x Lifelong Learning
- you'll experience four intensive days at the DCM Winter School in Berlin filled with discussion, team-building, workshops, and shared visions of the future with students from all over Germany,

- you'll meet regularly with the entire cohort during the DCM Weekends, further develop your projects, learn from one another, and become part of a unique community of engaged students,
- you'll share your perspectives and work as a speaker, panelist, or workshop leader at events and conferences,
- You'll expand your skills through workshops, mentoring, and training programs on topics such as public speaking, project management, and design thinking,
- and build a nationwide network of students, university stakeholders, and experts from the fields of politics, education, and society.

Your involvement each semester is roughly equivalent to the workload of one course and may even count toward your degree in some cases.

👉 Curious? You can find all the information about the call for applications, the thematic tracks, and the application process here: https://hfd.digital/pcZah

📅 Application deadline: November 15, 2026

If you have any questions, the DCM team is always available: digitalchangemaker@hochschulforum.org

We look forward to receiving your application!

Warm regards,
Vivi & Lea from the DCM Team

Christmas Cooking Class with Gourmet Chef Manfred Lang on November 14, 2026

In this cooking class, we'll present an extraordinary Christmas menu, which we'll of course enjoy together afterward:
Does it always have to be duck à l'orange?
No, there are other options for the holiday roast. We'll also experiment with vegetables and fruit and prepare a delicately spiced cinnamon-chocolate sauce. This will be served with stuffed potato noodles, poppy seed, or nut spätzle. For the appetizer, we'll prepare a seasonal salad with fruit tossed in honey. For dessert, we'll create a Black Forest cake with Christmas spices.

Each cooking class includes a complete menu. We're happy to take participants' requests into account for future cooking classes. The courses cover every step of the process—from preparation and cooking to setting the table—and are led by Manfred Lang, a trained baker, butcher, and chef who has extensive experience working independently with an event catering kitchen throughout Germany, as well as in various restaurants and hotels as a chef, head chef, and restaurant operator.

The goal of the cooking class is to prepare meals using fresh, seasonal ingredients, which will be explained throughout the evening.
We hope you enjoy your meal!

Where: Vocational Schools, Welding Workshop, Winkeler Straße 99, 65366 Geisenheim
When: 5:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.
