Study in Germany – in Geisenheim

›› Why not come and study at the Hochschule Geisenheim University with its 140-year tradition of education in the areas of viticulture and beverage technology, fruit production and horticulture? Our students are taught in what is a unique symbiosis of theoretical instruction, research and practical application. The two new innovative degree courses Food Safety and Logistics and Management of Fresh Products. Further enrich the variety of courses on offer at Geisenheim University.

›› Our university offers you a first-class education in a family atmosphere right at the heart of the Rheingau, an important wine-growing area in the immediate vicinity of the UNESCO Upper Middle Rhine Valley World Heritage Site which is conveniently located in the Rhine-Main area.

›› There are currently around 1500 students taking advantage of the special facilities available at the Geisenheim campus to study for a bachelor's degree with professional accreditation. They will leave with a top-quality academic qualification which offers excellent prospects for the future. Modern laboratory, media and seminar rooms, lecture theatres, our own winery and beverage company as well as spacious outdoor cultivation areas and glasshouses for fruit production, horticulture and landscaping offer a wide range of opportunities for an intensive, practice-oriented study program.

Orientation for students commencing study in the winter semester 2018/19!

›› Pre-study practical experience is a central admission requirement for all the degree courses at HGU. When applying to study here, all prospective students must provide proof of having completed an 8 to 26 week-pre-study internship (the length depends on the chosen degree course) and demonstrate German language profiency for the German-taught degree courses and English language profiency for the English-taught program „International Wine Business."

›› Our Pre-Study project helps international prospective students to fultill the admission requirements, by providing the following support services:

1. B2-German course on campus
2. the organisation of pre-study internships
3. a Buddy program and socio-cultural activities
4. advice from HGU staff

›› Submit your email application by 15th July 2017 to pre-study@hs-gm.de to make sure you're really prepared for the winter semester 2018/19.

Participation in Pre-Study is free of charge!
